Ntsako LAYNN

POET

Ntsako Laynn, originally from Bushbuckridge, Mpumalanga and now based in Cape Town, is a poet whose work fuses raw emotion with bold imagery to explore identity, masculinity, memory, and spiritual yearning.

His poetry speaks for the voiceless, blending the intensely personal with the socially and politically charged, inviting audiences to reclaim truth, sanctify sorrow, and dream of healing.

On stage and page, Ntsako balances vulnerability with authority, using rhythm and resonance to connect deeply with his audience. He has performed alongside Xabiso Vili, Alicia Harris, and Busisiwe Mahlangu at slams, poetry sessions, open mics, corporate events, and private gatherings.

He has refined his pen, transforming pain into power through poetry.
